Why UTAR

1 Global Recognition

UTAR is ranked among the top 600 universities in the Times Higher Education (THE) World University Rankings 2020 and ranked #111 in THE Asia University Rankings 2019. UTAR also ranked #181 in QS Asia University Rankings 2020.

2 Recognised Qualification

All study programmes are approved by the Ministry of Education Malaysia and the Malaysia Qualification Agency (MQA). Professional recognition accreditation is being actively sought from leading Malaysian and international professional bodies for the relevant professional-related programmes. This enable students to acquire additional internationally recognised qualifications by professional bodies.

3 Compulsory Industrial Training

UTAR has made the industrial training compulsory for all undergraduate students so as to provide them with experiential learning opportunities. For postgraduate studies, some courses provide students hands-on and consultative experience through participation in consultancy trips to international organisations.

4 Global Networking

UTAR has collaboration with over 390 educational institutions and industries from 28 economies to provide students access to international collaborative activities such as student exchanges, study tours, research projects, seminars, conferences and symposia. Academic credit hour transfer options are available through the student exchange programmes.

5 Holistic Student Development

UTAR goes beyond just imparting technical knowledge and encourage students to take part in extracurricular activities such as soft skills development, student entrepreneurship activities, sports and character building events. Ambitious students can participate in the UTAR Undergraduate Research Scheme (URS) which allows them to be trained to conduct scientific research and work with our researchers on a real-life research project. Participation in extracurricular activities organised by clubs and societies, and the unique UTAR Soft Skills Development Certification (USSDC) programme will enhance students' management, leadership, entrepreneurial and social skills.

6 Affordable Fees and Cost of Living

UTAR keeps the programme fees affordable. As an example, students can acquire a 4-year Electrical and Electronic Engineering degree at an overall tuition fee of RM69,000 (RM17,250 per year). If the cost of living is taken into account (approximately RM12,000 per year), students can complete the entire degree in UTAR at RM117,000.

7 Medium of Instruction

English is widely used in communication, teaching and learning. In addition, the unique multicultural environment in UTAR will enable cross-cultural learning with students picking up new languages formally (through language classes) or informally (through friendship).
